About the Programme Calendar 2018–19

The National Institute of Public Cooperation and Child Development (NIPCCD), ever since its inception in 1966, has been at the forefront in undertaking training, research, consultancy and publication pertaining to different aspects of women and child development. It has emerged as an elite organization which strives for ensuring quality systems in training and research. During the year 2017–18, the Institute organized a total of 390 training programmes which were attended by 12827 participants.

Research occupies a primary place in the activities of the Institute. While deciding the topics of research, care is taken to identify subjects and issues of topical concern and relevance to policy formulation. The Institute continues to place great emphasis on the problems and issues of women and children in unorganized and organized sectors in general and the more disadvantaged among these such as children affected by communal, caste and ethnic violence; health and nutritional status of tribal women; rationalization of child care institutions; and rehabilitation of juveniles in conflict with law, etc. I am indeed privileged to inform that during the year 2017–18, the Institute has completed 14 research studies/ documentation.

I take great pleasure in sharing with you a glimpse of the major programmes and events organized during the year 2017-18 which are as under:

Since 2005–06 the Institute runs a regular one-year course in Advanced Diploma in Child Guidance and Counselling with a vision to bridge the gap of trained professionals for undertaking guidance and counselling intervention with children and their families in different settings. The course has been designed to enable the learner to assess and plan preventive, promotive and therapeutic need-based and milieu-specific mental health programmes in schools and communities with children and adolescents. Every year, the Institute enrolls 20 post-graduate students from the disciplines of psychology, social work and child development for the Diploma. Thus, Institute is proud to be able to guide these students and transform them into true professionals with the potential they have. The Course is affiliated with Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University, Delhi and is also registered under the Rehabilitation Council of India (RCI).
